Buyers: Be Aware

Late last fall we had a prospective customer who wanted a Clean Burn furnace in the worst way. We tried every which way to get him financing but to no avail. Finally, we came up with the idea to offer him a layaway plan so he could make payments without interest and without the need for financial approval. He could pay what he could afford each month until he paid off the cost of his furnace and installation. Because it was well into the heating season and he wanted to start to save on his heating bills right away, the customer decided to buy an "off the shelf" brand. Unfortunately, he did not realize at the time that not only had he bought a furnace that would have no back up support, but he also did not anticipate the difficulties he would have in trying to find someone to install the it. We talked to him this spring and learned that his new furnace is still sitting on the floor of his shop. Not only did he make large payments on the equipment throughout the winter, but he also continued to pay high fuel bills. His parting words to us were "I should have gotten a Clean Burn."

Fun Fact...

The sentence "The quick brown fox jumps over the lazy dog." uses every letter in the alphabet. (This was developed by Western Union to test telex/two communications)

Please make arrangements today to have your Clean Burn furnace tuned up now. Here's why:

If you wait until fall, when we are swamped installing new furnaces, it may be December before we can get you scheduled with routine service related issues.

Because Fall months are our busiest time to install furnaces, periodic maintenance pricing is better in the spring and summer. You can also take advantage of the trip charges being waived, as an extra incentive.

Hope to hear from you...

Sharing Susan's Obsession

On weekends Susan (you know her as our scheduler) enjoys hiking along the Susquehanna River close to the Conowingo Dam. This has become a favorite place: eagle sightings are plentiful, herons and osprey take flight all around and fish are jumping out of the river testing fate. Below is a picture of three Eaglets waiting on their next meal.
